

CHRISTINA NEUBRAND

FOUNDING ARTISTIC ASSOCIATE

Christina Neubrand is a co-founder of The Drama Club and currently supports the company from Brooklyn, NY. She holds an MA in Educational Theatre from NYU and currently teaches with Stages on the Sound and Borough of Manhattan Community College. She also serves as Creative Director for an emerging non-profit called, The AJ Project whose mission is to provide support for adult artists trying to make it in New York City. Christina's passion is devised theatre with a focus on community driven social justice pieces. That said, she comes from a musical theatre background and still loves to perform. Most recently Christina has been working with Movement in C, a dance based company in New York and has a physical theatre piece being showcased in their upcoming choreographers festival called "Gestalt". Christina has worked with a variety of theatre companies both as an actor and director in NYC and her hometown, Dallas, TX. Top companies include Roundabout Theatre Company, Looking Glass Theatre, Brooklyn Children's Theatre, The Network Festival, American Globe Theatre, Red Thread, Spellbound, Brooklyn Family Theatre, Theatre Britain, MBS Productions, Untitled Theatre Company, and Theatre Three.